Statement of Woman Who Filed Police Report in California Regarding C.J. Spillman

I filed a police report in December 2013 in Santa Clara, California alleging that C.J. Spillman, who was then playing with the San Francisco 49'ers, had sexually assaulted me in my massage room after I gave him a massage.

Unfortunately, the Santa Clara District Attorney declined to prosecute Mr. Spillman in my case.

I was very upset to learn in 2014 that a woman in Texas was alleging that Mr. Spillman (who was on the Dallas Cowboys special teams) had assaulted her in September 2014.

I was glad to hear however that her case was being prosecuted. The D.A. in that Texas case called me to testify in the penalty phase of that case and I did testify last week in Texas.

We need to hold people accountable for their actions, no matter what their status is and I am glad that Mr. Spillman was made accountable for what he did to the Texas victim.

I would encourage all victims to report it to law enforcement if the victims are assaulted, because the person who assaults may do it again, and it helps the police to have a record of prior allegations even if the D.A. declines to prosecute based on the accusations.
