Statement of Kayla Beals

When I went to the Universal Studios Halloween Horror Nights I expected to have a good time with my friends.

I felt shocked that an employee of Universal would think it was o.k. to say what she said to kids. I was embarrassed because many people were watching and listening and I worried that they might be thinking that I really was what she said that I was.

I want them to know that it is not o.k. to say that to girls and that is why I am speaking out today. I have always been taught that girls should be treated with respect.

I hope that Universal will take this seriously and that they will never allow their employees to speak those words to other girls or women in the future.
