Statement of Roxy Fisher

When I went to Universal's Halloween Horror Nights I just expected to get scared by all the monsters and that would have been fun if that's all that had happened, but it did not.

Instead what happened put my friend and me in what I felt was a potentially dangerous situation.

The woman said horrible things about me and my friends in front of many people.

I was worried and embarrassed. It made me very uncomfortable. I knew what she said was not true but I didn't know what other people might think.

I don't think that anyone working for Universal should say these things to me or to any young girls or to anyone.

Also, when my mother complained something should have been done.

I am 13 years old. I don't think that anyone has the right to call me names.
