

Margie De Pamphilis

I was an excellent employee with an outstanding attendance record and exceptional job performance for over 32 years.

That is why I could not believe that they suddenly fired me.

When they did that I was in a state of shock because working there was my life and I did nothing to deserve this.

My customers loved me and I loved them and my job.

I feel betrayed, sad, angry, hurt and I am emotionally devastated.

How could they do this to me?

I always felt good about myself but since this happened, it has turned my life upside down.

It has affected my sleep, my attitude and my trust.

I used to believe that if I did right by my employer, and did everything they asked and have a right to expect, that they would also value me and do right by me in return.

I feel used and abused because I was asked to train the new young women and I did as I was asked.

Then after I did the training. I was fired and replaced by the young women.

This should never happen.

It is wrong and that is why I have decided to do something about it.
