Response of attorney Gloria Allred to yesterday's statement by Prince Andrew that he is willing to help law enforcement regarding Jeffrey Epstein

I am very pleased that Prince Andrew stated yesterday that "I am willing to help any appropriate law enforcement agency with their investigations, if required."

I am glad that he is willing to speak to law enforcement, although I am not sure what he means by "if required." Is he insisting that he be served with a subpoena to testify or is he willing to speak to law enforcement without being legally required to do so?

My clients who are victims of Jeffrey Epstein have spoken to law enforcement without being "required" to do so.

I urge Prince Andrew to contact the investigators for the U.S. Attorneys' Office for the Southern District of New York and volunteer to be interviewed by them without conditions and without delay.
