Today Jordan Hill entered a misdemeanor plea to an assault on a family member. He received a deferred adjudication and was sentenced to probation. He must undergo domestic violence counseling, pay a $500 fine, pay a $100 donation to the Harris County Violence Fund, and have no contact with the victim while he is on probation.

The victim, who is my client, was formerly in a dating and intimate relationship with Mr. Hill. They had been together for about a year and a half and they had a relationship which they both appeared to enjoy.

It was therefore shocking to her to suddenly have the person whom she loved assault her in a violent manner and injure her both physically and emotionally.

The victim is only 5ft. 4in. Mr. Hill is approximately 6ft. 10in. She is still shocked that he would attack her in the way that he did.

It is long overdue for Mr. Hill to be accountable for the harm that he has inflicted on my client. She loved him and delayed reporting it in an effort to protect him but he has not even had the decency to apologize to her for the way in which he has hurt her.

I commend my client for the courage that she has shown in this matter.

It is very difficult for a young woman to stand up for what is right when she is victimized by a celebrity and especially when that celebrity is someone she has loved. However, she has cooperated with the criminal justice system because she felt that it was important for Mr. Hill to get the help that he needs so that what she has suffered will never be suffered by any other woman.

We hope that Mr. Hill will learn that an assault on a woman is always wrong and can result in criminal prosecution of him and serious consequences for his victim.

We think that the time is long overdue for him to be fully accountable for his misconduct and we are glad that he has taken the first step by entering a plea today.
